Before You Bring Your New Pet Home

🐾 Purchase Supplies

- Food (old food and new)*
- Collar / Harness & Leash
- Bowls - Water & Food
- Toys / Treats
- Name Tag (include contact your info.)
- Cleaning Spray (accidents are normal in new environments)
- Cat Box & Litter (cat)
- Crate (dog - encouraged to crate train)

🐾 Prepare Your Home

- Check Fence - make sure there are no holes for an escape
- "Baby Proof" - put away items you don't want accidentally damaged while training
- Set up bowls, cat pan, dog crate, etc.

🐾 Decide on Schedule & Training Techniques

- When will you feed your new pet?
- Will you need to come home in the middle of your shift for a potty break?
- How will you correct a pup who has an accident in the house?
- Have you instructed kids on how they should treat and interact with your new pet?

* Important Tip! To avoid upset tummies (and messes!) you need to slowly transition your new pet from old food to new food. Buy a small bag of the food she is used to eating and over a couple of weeks gradually increase the amount of new food mixed with the old until you are feeding all new food.

Bringing Your New Pet Home

🐾 Introduce Your New Pet Slowly

If you adopted a dog and have other dogs in the home, introduce them on neutral territory. Take them on a walk around the block, meet at a park, etc. Dogs can be territorial when someone new comes in and you don't want their relationship to start off on the wrong paw.

Don't overwhelm your new pet with meeting a whole bunch of people and going to a whole bunch of places - give them time to settle in!

🐾 Stick to the Schedule

Keeping a schedule for when your new pet will be fed, pottied, played with, put to bed, etc. helps your new pet to feel secure and comfortable.

🐾 Be Patient

New places can be scary and it may take your friend a while to feel comfortable and learn the new schedule, new rules, etc.
